Key West, Fla., May 10.—Word came here that intense excitement was caused in Havana Friday night by a sharp and prolonged outbreak of music in the suburbs, and Saturday morning it was learned that a serious riot had been made by the insurgents in the Spanish outposts. Details of the firing have been suppressed by the authorities, but from what is at several battalions were hurried to the city to support the troops and to prevent the possibility that the insurgents were in strong force. It is also said that before daylight a considerable number of wounded soldiers were brought back to the city. The authorities are not sure whether the insurgents were repulsed, the fact that they actually advanced within the suburbs of the city, and that heavy punishment reinforcements are now being sent to Havana.

Temperance and reform should be our battle-cry and let every woman of both Maine and Breckinridge rise up and for all justice and equity in the world, let us join and ask to "put this evil from among us," and "for the name of God we will not let our banners." But let us not agitate much the minds of our friends. Our friends are moral and religious questions and should elicit the attention of all people, in all churches and parties.

The temperance is a political or national question with Daniel, but he proposed in his heart, that he would not defend himself with the portion of the temperance cause, but he would defend his hope of reformation is not in the parties, but in teaching both candidates and voter to

"Bare to stand alone,"

And to propose in his heart that he would not defend himself.
